WWOOFing at New Govardhana

What is WWOOFing?

WWOOFing (Willing Workers On Organic Farms ) is an organization that links individuals with organic farms. Working (4 hours a day) in exchange for food and accommodation is the basis of all WWOOFing. (More info available at www.woof.com.au <sup>[1]</sup>). It enables travelers to see the country inexpensively and learn about organic farming.

Where is the Krishna Farm?

Situated ten kilometers outside Murwillumbah, in the foothills of Mount Warning (North East Coast NSW), the New Govardhana Hare Krishna Community is a 900 acre certified organic property with orchards, vegetable gardens, cows and peacocks. Streams and swimming holes in abundance. WWOOFers stay in a simple guest house room with shared bathroom facilities.

How much work are WWOOFers expected to perform?

About four hours a day, five days a week.
